Letter from The Secretary General

It is my distinct honour to welcome you to first edition of ICFAI Dehradun National Model United Nations'2016 organised by ICFAI University, Dehradun which will be held on 27-28 August 2016. The objective of this conference is to serve as a forum for meaningful discussion, debate and discourse for school as well as college students all over the country. Let me commend you on the most rapid ascend possible in the diplomatic services, where you will enter the conference as junior delegates and leave as ambassadors. It only takes one person to make a change.

Regardless of the nationality, we all are citizens of the world; we have the duty to preserve our planet. Therefore, this year's IDN MUN will focus on certain current issues which concern the world at large. As a delegate you can surely contribute with your country's ideas and your will to change the world. Those changes come from within you.

Delegates, it is when the conference is over, that the real work begins. With this experience you become representatives of the United Nations'; student ambassadors charged with building a better understanding of the Organization -- what is it, what it does and what it can do, and you assume this responsibility at a crucial period in the life of the United Nations. This Model United Nations is built on open minds and fresh ideas.

Many of you have been asked to represent national agendas that you may personally disagree with; you will do so fairly and forcefully. This open mindedness is the essence of successful diplomacy—the ability to understand and analyze all positions, including those that you oppose. The current issues are daunting. But the United Nations has proven, at various stages of its history, that it is capable of rising to new challenges. Your support is crucial. Your voice and your organization, activity and energy can help highlight the United Nations' success. You can be catalysts for change by creating social networks in support of your work. Therefore, as leaders of the future you can come up with innovative approaches to help confront the challenges facing the global community.

I hope to see you all for an unforgettable experience of meeting new people, exploring international politics and engaging in diplomatic dialogue.

Thankyou!!

Best regards,
Madhubanti Mukherjee
Secretary General

"We are not developing nations, we are not developed nations, we are the United Nations"-
THIMUN 2010

Model United Nations, abbreviated as Model UN or MUN is an extra-curricular activity where basically students represent themselves as delegates of United Nations. As evident from the name itself, they represent various countries and simulate UN committees. The activity takes place through conferences initially conducted by high schools or college MUN club. With substantial researching at the inception, public speaking, debating, writing skills, critical thinking, teamwork as well as leadership abilities lead to a successful MUN. However the hard work and labour is also rewarded with an award certificate to the outstanding delegates and a gavel to the best delegate in each committee at the end. Over years, MUN has also witnessed many changes where in addition to simulation of Security Council and General Assembly, conferences run simulation of US National Security Council too. MUN is all about keeping track of various events all over the world and juxtaposing them with social happenings.

The ICFAI University, Dehradun is organising a National MUN on 27-28 August, 2016. Our sole aim is to train delegates over world affairs and refurbish their diplomatic skills. Delegates from all over India are invited to come forward and make our little initiative a successful one with their zeal and skill.

The Disarmament and International Security Committee (DISEC) is the first and one of six main committees at the United Nations. The DISEC is concerned with disarmament and related international security questions. It deals with disarmament, global challenges and threats to peace that affect the international community and seeks out solutions to the challenges in the international security regime.

The DISEC sessions are structured into three distinctive stages:

1. General debate
2. Thematic discussions
3. Action on drafts

It is the only main committee of the General Assembly entitled to verbatim records coverage. The committee works in the close cooperation with the “United Nations Disarmament Commission” and the Geneva-based “Conference on Disarmament”. It considers all disarmament and international security matters within the scope of the Charter or relating to the powers and functions of any other organ of the United Nations. It also considers the general principles of cooperation in the maintenance of international peace and security, as well as principles governing disarmament and the regulation of armaments; promotion of cooperative arrangements and measures aimed at strengthening stability through lower levels of armaments.

The DISEC meets every year in October for a 4-to-5 week session, after the General Assembly General Debate.

Agenda: Review of UN Counter Terrorism Strategy

The United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) is a United Nations System's inter-governmental body responsible for the promotion and protection of human rights around the globe. The General Assembly established the UNHRC by adopting a resolution in order to replace the previous CHR (Commission of Human Rights).

The UNHRC deals with the conflicts as well as the rights related situations in different countries. The UNHRC also addresses some important human rights issues like “women's rights, LGBT rights, freedom of belief and religion, freedom of expression, freedom of association and assembly, and the rights of racial and ethnic minorities”.

The UNHRC is a subsidiary body of the UN General Assembly. The General Assembly takes into account the candidate States' contribution to the promotion and protection of human rights. The resolution establishing the UNHRC states that “members elected to the Council shall uphold the highest standards in the promotion and protection of human rights”.

Agenda: Legalization of commercial sex workers

The All India Political Party Meet (AIPPM) was created as a body supplementary to the Parliament, without any legislative provisions for a specific purpose in order to serve as a forum for unrestricted political debate which the constraints of the Parliament do not at all times allow. This committee is not a UN committee. It is being replicated to provide a center juncture to the rampant issues in India. This council echoes our hopes of change and evolution. The aim of this scrupulous council is to come up with a guideline based elucidation after ample discussions between the representative of political parties and personalities. The All India Political Party Meet, unlike other conventional MUN committees is characterized by heated debates, cross talks, walkouts, protests and high levels of negotiations and political diplomacy.

The AIPPM is a platform where diverse political perspectives and personalities amalgamate in the effort to resolve an issue of national importance. Every decision taken in the AIPPM is to make the dreams of our forefathers come true, to realize the ideals of our constitution and to bring in a futuristic, a progressive India to take on the world in every sphere and every domain there can ever be.

Agenda: Review of Reservation

The United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) is the United Nations' global development network having the status of executive board within the United Nation General Assembly. The UNDP focuses on poverty, democratic governance, energy and environment, social development, HIV/AIDS, and crisis prevention and recovery to accomplish the MDGs and encourage global environment. It also encourages the empowerment of women and the protection of human rights in all of its programmes.

UNDP works with nations on their own solutions to global and national development challenges. It links and coordinates global and national efforts to achieve the goals and national development priorities laid down by host countries. UNDP focuses primarily on five challenges namely Democratic governance, Poverty reduction, HIV/AIDS, Environment and energy, and Crisis prevention and recovery.

Currently, the UNDP is one of the main UN agencies involved in the development of the Post – 2015 Development Agenda.
